TENT TO CONTAINER CONVERSION

Many of the displaced Syrian people who have been leaving their homes due to the on-going conflict have been gathering in villages near the Syrian-Turkish border. The first waves of people to leave were provided with only tent shelters which by now have seen the decay and damage of 3 years. As a consequence many are living in extremely difficult conditions without adequate protection against the extremes of the seasons. There is thus a dire need to provide these families with more durable and permanent shelter.

Help the Al-Imdaad Foundation convert a tent camp into a containerised village, replacing the tents with container homes and establishing social facility buildings to meet all the needs of the residents.
